The family of Lamb has also been about Alnwick and the neighbourhood for many years. James Lamb was to trade a thatcher. When we first knew him he was living with his daughter the late Mrs Luckley in a house in Bailiffgate Street, Shortly after her death he removed with his grand-daughter to a house in Canongate Street, and I was in the latter place where he died.

His daughter married George Luckley, of Dunstan. He and his ancestors had lived at the latter place for about 150 years. Mr John Lamb Luckley, who has contributed so much to the literature of his native county is a son of George and Elizabeth Luckley.

The above named George Luckley, died April 3rd 1815 aged 41 years.
